

Lee County Raised Over Six Million Dollars For War Activities in Two Years--$157,000 Is Given Outright

Y.M.C.A. SPENDS 97 MILLIONS TO HELP DOUGHBOYS

Report of Geo. Perkins Shows That Balance is 27 Millions.

New York, Aug. 1.—First detailed accounts of the receipts and expenditures of the Young Men's Christian Association, made public here by the organization's National War Work Council finance committee, show that $125,282,859 was received by it between April 26, 1917 and March 21, 1919. Total expenditures aggregated $97,817,005 in the period named, it is stated, leaving a balance of $27,465,854, a sum estimated to be sufficient to carry on the work here and abroad until next December 31.

According to the figures, which appear over the signatures of George W. Perkins, chairman of the committee, Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer, of the War Work Council, and H. W. Wilmont, comptroller, slightly more than two per cent of the total funds contributed by the American public were expended for religious purposes in the United States and overseas, while approximately 89 per cent was devoted to the purchase, transportation and distribution of canteen supplies and to entertainments, education and athletic sports.

Gives 558,096 Baseballs
In addition to the provision of free athletic supplies which included among other things, in the United States camps alone, 558,096 baseballs and 26,000 sets of boxing gloves, the report says, the Y. M. C. A. distributed overseas $36,822,449 worth of merchandise. Of this merchandise $1,794,771 worth, or approximately five per cent, was given free to the soldiers. This does not include overseas Christmas gifts and entertainments worth $651,963.

Of the $97,817,005 expended it is shown, more than $30,000,000 was spent in the home camps, more than $2,000,000 with the American Expeditionary Force abroad and $14,409,175 for work with the Allied armies and prisoners of war. The balance went for other expenses. The statement explains that the Y. M. C. A. suffered a loss of $1,478,082 in the operation of army post exchanges and canteens also owing to the depreciation in values of French and English currencies. The conversion of the overseas figures at current rates, resulted in a net loss of $2,432,082.

Report Not Final
The report, the committee makes clear, is not final, because the war service of the Y. M. C. A. which reached its maximum in March of this year, is being continued in the United States and foreign countries. Three war work campaigns for funds, it points out, brought from the American public $123,254,052 and this amount, the report states, was augmented to $125,282,859 by sums from other sources.

Some idea of the magnitude of the work accomplished by the organization is shown by the statement that more than 97,000 concerts, vaudeville performances and other entertainments were staged by the "Y" in American cantonments on an aggregate audience of 42,500,000 at a cost of $1,165,767. In addition, free motion picture shows in the home camps necessitated an outlay of $2,328,271.

Erection of 950 huts for men in training camps on this side cost $7,693,981 and the outlay for maintenance was $3,966,736. "These buildings," says the report, "were centers of religious, educational, entertainment and athletic activities for all men who passed through the camps on their way overseas or who used the centers through the period covered by the report and are still using them."

1900 Overseas Huts
Overseas, the statement says, work of even "a vaster scope" was accomplished. The 1900 or more "Y" huts and tents built or leased for the use of the A. E. F. cost $4,801,271, were equipped at a cost of $2,950,421 and operated and maintained at a further expense of $1,614,337.

Writing materials and newspapers for the overseas men, including 400,000 sheets of letter paper, half as many envelopes and 16,000,000 post cards, cost $2,236,808. For motion picture shows, in which 13,000,000 feet of films were used in France alone, and spectators aggregated 50,000,000, the "Y" paid $1,065,757. More than 34,000 concerts and entertainments increased the expenditures by $850,969.

Hotels Maintained
The cost of the "Y's" overseas religious program was $467,584, or approximately, two-fifths of one per cent of the entire operating funds. Educational plants, literature and library work cost $991,932, and the A. E. F. athletics cost $1,957,391. The organization also operated, it is explained, more than 25 "leave areas" in various parts of France at an expense of $831,601 and a chain of hotels for men on leave at a cost of $477,956.

In the United States, it is shown, the organization expended $2,105,815 upon its religious program in the six military departments, which included the holding of meetings and Bible classes, the distribution of literature and the maintenance of religious secretaries and musical directors. Educational literature, together with lectures, instruction in the French language, and library services, was provided at home by an expenditure of $1,192,737 and for sex hygiene education and literature the "Y" spent $23,764.

HERE SUNDAY

EX-SENATOR J. H. LEWIS.

Brilliant orator and former leader of the democratic side of the United States Senate, where he acted as "whip" for the administration, will deliver an address at the Rock River Assembly at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, setting forth President Wilson's attitude in support of the League of Nations.

LEAGUE MEETS ENDS OF UNIVERSAL PEACE

Comes Nearer To Meeting Demand Than Any Human Agency

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—Urging prompt and unreserved ratification of the league of nations covenant, Senator Ramsdell, democrat, Louisiana, declared in a senate speech today that the document met the ends of universal peace "as closely as any human agency can."

"Every one demands," said the Louisiana senator, "that something should be done in order to save mankind from the horrors of war. Its enemies submit all of objections to this particular league, but propose nothing in its place. When one considers the mighty snake does it not seem the height of folly to quibble and complain about each and every detail of the covenant, about whether this 'I' should be dotted or that 'U' crossed, when the fate of humanity hangs in the balance?"

"In this most trying hour the United States is the sole hope of mankind. If our mighty republic fails to ratify the league, the league will fail, and if the league fails, the various nations of the world will continue the same mad effort for self aggrandizement. At the close of the next general war darkness will settle upon the earth; men will move back more than twenty centuries, and Christian civilization with all the good things it has done for humanity will cease to exist."

FREE TEXT BOOKS PROVIDED FOR IN LAW; MUST VOTE

Board Must Buy Books If People Decree At Election

Upon presentation of a petition containing the signatures of at least five per cent of the voters in the city of Dixon, the board of election commissioners will submit the free text book law to a referendum vote.

The bill for free text books in the public schools has become a law and was effective on June 30, but there has not been time for it to be utilized by any school district.

To obtain free text books it is necessary to first present a petition. It requires a two-thirds majority of the votes cast at the election at which it is submitted to carry. If it carries, it is compulsory that the board of education purchase text books and loan them to the pupils. Funds for the purchase of text books must come out of the educational appropriation.

The text book law as now in force carries with it a provision permitting school authorities to purchase text books and sell them to pupils at cost, if they so desire.

County Trust Officer
A copy of this and many other new laws pertaining to schools was received this morning by the county superintendent. Another very important law that is at once effective throughout the state makes it compulsory that the county superintendent of schools in each county shall appoint a county trust officer who shall be an assistant county superintendent of schools. In graded school districts the board of education is empowered to appoint one or more trust officers and to fix the compensation which shall be paid by the district.

In the case of the appointment by the county superintendent the compensation is fixed by the county board of supervisors together with that officer's traveling expenses to be paid out of the county treasury. The county trust officer is also required to file a bond of $1,000 and shall perform the duties of trust officer in all school districts in the county.

DIXON TELEPHONE CO. ASKS GOVERNMENT TO MAKE GOOD ITS LOSS

Control Of Exchange Is Back In Hands Of Its Owners

At midnight last night the control of the Dixon Home Telephone company passed from the hands of the government to the management of its owners, and at once those officials began the consideration of plans to operate the company so as to avoid the losses incurred under government control, which losses the government will be asked to make good.

After one year of federal control the books of the Dixon Home company and three hundred other independent telephone companies in the United States, show losses each month, due largely to the greatly increased cost of labor and material and supplies. Since the government established the rates which could be charged the government is directly responsible for the losses incurred, according to the petitions these companies have filed with the Postmaster General, and accordingly the telephone companies expect the post office department to reimburse them.

A number of Illinois telephone companies have already petitioned the Illinois Utilities Commission to make permanent the larger telephone rates authorized by the government. The Dixon Home company has taken no such action as yet, and the officials have not yet determined what course they will follow in their efforts to make the income meet the operating expense of the system.

Ohio Coal Mines Are Working Near Normal

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Columbus, O., Aug. 1.—Ohio coal mines are operating from 65 to 70 per cent full time as compared with 45 per cent three months ago, when thousands of miners were idle, according to officials of the United Mine Workers of Ohio.

Practically all mines in Eastern Ohio, the union officials said, are working nearly full time. In the Hocking, or Southern Ohio district, some mines are still closed down and others working only part time but conditions are improving rapidly, the officials asserted.

Approximately 15,000 of the 50,000 miners in Ohio were idle from the signing of the armistice until three months ago. The demand for coal is becoming better and unless a car shortage and severe winter intervene, all mines will be going at top speed this fall and winter, they said.

Another coal shortage, similar to the one in the winter of 1917-1918, will be suffered in Ohio and the middle west this winter in the event of severe weather, the operators state. They say that the demand is unusually brisk now as compared with the few years before the war. The operators point out that during the war mining was expedited at the request of the government. Much coal was shipped and last winter and this spring there was a surplus due to the mild winter. The operators point out that large crops usually cause a car shortage in the fall.

NEW LAW DOESN'T RAISE SALARY OF JUDGE FARRAND

Under the provisions of the law which was passed by the last state legislature, the salaries of circuit judges in Illinois will be $5,500 a year instead of $4,000. The law provides that this change shall be in effect as of the date of July 1, last. The new law will not affect the salary of Judge R. S. Farrand of this city for Judge Farrand was elected to office last fall before the new law was provided to go into effect. But the law, it remains on the statute books of the state will apply to the man who is elected judge to succeed Judge Farrand in 1921.

At Carlyle, Ill., Judge Thomas E. Ford, who recently assumed the duties of the office of circuit judge, will draw the increased salary because he became judge since July 1, when the new law went into effect. Judge Ford was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge McBride. Because of the fact that he was elected to fill this vacancy, in the opinion of many of the attorneys of the local bar, he cannot draw extra salary provided for in the new law. Information, however, comes from Carlyle that it is expected Judge Ford can draw the extra salary provided for in the new law.

FORMER DIXON MAN SUICIDED AT ROCK ISLAND

John Engesser, Age 78, Hanged Himself At Daughter's Home

John Engesser, aged 78, a former resident of Dixon, committed suicide at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Herbert M. Barth, in Rock Island Monday morning by hanging himself. He was found in an attic at the home, a rope around his neck, and a chair nearby indicated that he had jumped from it to his death after tying the rope around his neck and over a rafter.

The deceased had been a resident of Rock Island for the past ten years, moving there from Dixon to live with relatives a decade ago.

Illness is given by relatives as the cause for suicide. He was last seen alive at 10 o'clock and found dead at 11:30.

The deceased is survived by the widow and son, John Engesser, besides the daughter with whom he had been residing. Four grandchildren also mourn.

Give Details Of Lee Co. Road Work

Construction of a little less than fifty miles of hard roads, involving expenditure of more than $1,000,000 is contemplated in contracts awarded by the state highway division last Friday, says the Rock Island Herald.

Four and a half miles will be built east and west of Rochelle at a cost of $99,599. George Welch, the contractor who has recently completed laying the concrete on the Lincoln Highway from the Randall bridge west of Rochelle to a mile and a sixth of a mile west of the Fisher school house, a distance of nearly seven miles, has been awarded this contract. His contract calls for the construction of a concrete road from the Randall bridge to the C. & E. Q. Ry. tracks west of the city and from the Harry Beebe corner north of Rochelle to the big tree on the north side of the Lincoln Highway one mile and six tenths of a mile east of Rochelle.

Mr. Welch expects to start immediately on this work.

Another contract was let at the same time for the construction of six miles commencing at the end of the cement road west of the Fisher school house to a point west of Ashton connecting with the cement road at that point.

It is reported that contracts are now let for the construction of a concrete road across the state over the Lincoln highway, only through cities through which the highway passes.

Overland Abandons Profit-Sharing Plan

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Toledo, O., Aug. 1.—The profit sharing plan put into effect six months ago by the Willis-Overland company has been abandoned, but employees who remained at work during the recent labor disorders there will share in the first profit of the company, according to the latest issue of the Overland News, the company's official organ.

It is declared that through their demands 5,000 workers forfeited their chances of a "fifty-fifty" share in the profits and compelled 8,000 others to do likewise when they demanded a forty-five hour week instead of a forty-eight hour week.

Two persons were killed and a number injured in rioting that continued several days after the walkout. It is declared the strike caused a company loss that will have to be overcome before a profit can be figured.

After an armed guard was maintained for several weeks, the dispute found its way to the United States district court. Several radicals were ordered from the city and others given jail sentences.

VALUABLE PAPERS IN STEWARD BANK BOXES FOUND NEAR DEKALB

Bank Robbers Evidently Got Little For Their Big Trouble

Some additional details of the finding of the loot from the Steward bank, told in The Telegraph are given by the Sycamore True Republican, which says:

Until Joseph Groves, who resides a mile west of Sycamore on the electric line, picked up a couple of bank safety deposit boxes near his home while he was raking up straw on the farm of his brother, Henry Groves on Saturday afternoon, no trace had been found of the burglars, nor the property stolen when the bank at Steward, six miles south of Rochelle, was burglarized last Friday night.

The boxes contained abstracts, deeds, insurance papers, certificates of deposit, $400 in registered bonds and much other property, all of great value to the owners but most of it not of value to others. However, the thieves overlooked one non-registered government bond of $50 which would have been as valuable as cash to them.

The stolen property was taken to the Sycamore city jail and examined. Little was missing. The thieves in their flight by automobile from Steward came through Sycamore so as to avoid the torn up Lincoln Highway and to better put pursuers off their track. But they need not have been afraid of pursuit, for the robbery was not discovered until late the next morning. The six boxes found here were all that were missing of the 18 which were broken open. The remainder were scattered around the bank vault. The burglars pried up a window in the bank, bored in the vault door, inserted explosives and then, by the use of a railroad pick and hammer, broke the locks and pried open the several safety deposit boxes.

They stopped near Sycamore to examine their loot and dispose of such of it as was of no value to them and might lead to their apprehension.

A dispatch that was sent from Sycamore to Chicago papers describing the find and giving the name of one of the depositors which was found on one of the boxes, was read on Sunday morning by Cashier Fell of the Steward bank. He called Sheriff Decker by telephone and was advised to come to Sycamore. No further search was made until the banker arrived, when he and the sheriff and others went to the spot where the two boxes were found, and extending their search found under a heap of brush near the fence four other boxes of the same kind. All were stolen from the Steward bank.

THREE YEARS LIFE OF CIRCUS PORKERS

Pigs may make pork at a stated market price of so much a pound, but pigs as mirth producers are valued according to their brand of stunts and the amount of laughs they can get out of an audience.

A porker may go to market at six months or six years and very little difference will be noticeable except the tonnage, but performing pigs cannot be marketed under a year, which is the time required to make them into circus performers. They are worth many good silver dollars to anyone in the show business, for two years, and then anyone can buy them at porker market price.

The show will come to Dixon from DeKalb and is scheduled to arrive early, giving a parade leaving the show grounds at 10:30. There will be an hour of concert preceding the performance, doors opening at 1 and 7 p. m.

MUST ESTABLISH NEW WORLD ORDER THRU LEAGUE, OWENS SAYS

Partisan Disputes Not Necessary, Oklahoma Senator Says

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—The senate was urged today by Senator Owen, democrat, Oklahoma, to accept the league of nations covenant in order to establish a new world order, and not to delay its action by "captious and partisan" disputes "over the wording of its various provisions."

"I shall not criticize the rhetoric or the verbiage of the covenant," said Senator Owen. "This covenant is wise. It is thoughtfully drawn. In its substance it is splendid. It is its purpose it is glorious."

"A perfect contract between scoundrels is worthless. An imperfect contract between trustworthy friends, who have fought and bled together in a common love of justice and liberty, is of very great value. Let us be devoutly thankful for the opportunity to bind the world together in bonds of peace."

"On the battlefield a league of victorious nations was established. The nations composing it discovered that while they were bound together by the exigencies of war in framing the future relations of the nations of Europe with Germany, it was essential to establish a league that should embrace all the nations of the world."

"The political enemies of President Wilson should not throw themselves in blind fury against the covenant on the theory that it is his child. The principles of the league are those of the Hague conventions brought down to date. It represents the best opinions of the whole civilized world. Do not slay the covenant as President Wilson's child. He is not the real father, but only an honest physician who presided over the accouchment."

DIXON BOY'S EFFORT TO KILL CAT RETOLD

From T. L. Brown, of Glendale, Cal.
The Telegraph receives a clipping of "The Old Family Album," a feature of the Los Angeles Evening Express, which gives the following notice concerning a prominent Los Angeles man who is a native of Dixon:

This is a story of the cat coming back. There is a particularly canny banker in this city who declares nevertheless, anything can be put over on him since—

Well, the story goes like this: A stray cat had adopted his family, and our hero was delegated or appointed or whatever you may call it, to drown the invader.

He put pussy in a sack—a large paper sack—and gravely proceeded to the bridge over the shallow river. He carefully went to the center of the bridge, closed his eyes and threw the sack. Then he ran.

In due course of time he reached home. He rubbed his eyes, and well he might, for there sat Mrs. Cat calmly cleaning her face on his front porch.

This boy who claims unlimited credulity is W. E. McVay, vice president of the Guaranty Trust & Savings bank in the Union Oil building.

Mr. McVay says his one youthful ambition was to be so rich in this world's goods that he could be indifferent in Sunday clothes. "Dressing up" he abominated. Can any one find a true boy who doesn't understand that feeling?

Although Mr. McVay was born in Dixon, Ill., he feels like a native California, for he has been here 32 years.

Southwest's Harvest Has Been Completed

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 1.—The Southwest's harvest, characterized as the "safest" in history, is over. Higher wages paid than ever before, and there was practically no radical agitation. An army numbering at times 125,000 men advanced with the harvest from southern Oklahoma through Kansas and into Nebraska, earning an average of sixty cents an hour.

Federal officials say about one hundred alleged agitators were arrested on vagrancy charges, but so far there has not been a single complaint of sabotage.

College students and returned soldiers predominated among the harvesters. The response was so large that it was unnecessary for side-line harvesters—Boy Scouts and high school students—to go into the fields, although many business men in small Kansas towns joined "twilight" harvest gangs.

There were some instances of wages reaching $15 a day, due to peculiar local conditions. At the critical period of the harvest, farmers here and there became panicky and bid wages up to 80 cents an hour.

"There never was so great a need of workers in Kansas," said J. C. Mohler, secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, "but I believe no appreciable amount of the crop was lost through lack of harvesters."

Belvidere—The 43rd annual session of the Epworth Group camp meeting will be held August 7 to 17, under the auspices of the Methodist church.

PROUD RECORD ESTABLISHED IN ALL CAMPAIGNS

Record Will Be Made Part of County's History

During two years of the great world war the people of Lee county raised for war purposes the grand total of $6,316,541.24, and in so doing established a record which will go into the pages of the county's history as a chapter or accomplishment of which future generations may be proud.

Of that magnificent total the sum of $157,738.91 was raised and given outright to war relief societies, including the American Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army, and the other relief and campaigning organization which were approved by the War Department.

Many Made Investments
Thousands of subscribers made big investments in the War Savings Stamps and Liberty Loan campaign, a total of $602,000 worth of savings stamps being taken in Lee county, and $5,543,300 worth of government bonds were subscribed for.

In every campaign Lee county more than reached its quota; and in only two of the campaigns were any delinquents—those who failed to contribute—reported. Those were in the United War Work campaign of November 11-19, 1918, when forty citizens of the county failed to respond to the calls made upon them; and in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive when one Lee county man allowed himself to go into the record as a "slacker."

Are Part of Record.
And it may be stated that the names of all those delinquents are written in the history of Lee county's part in the war, which will be filed with the county records and made a part of the county's history for all time.

The county's record is indeed most enviable. In the Victory Loan campaign—the last of the government's drives—Lee was first in fifty-seven counties of the Seventh Federal Reserve district, all being in northern Illinois.

In subscriptions to all loans Lee stood ninth, and was twelfth of 26 Honor Counties in the entire state which went over the top in the sale of War Savings Stamps. The record in all of the other campaigns was almost as good and as a result the members of the Lee County Finance Committee and all who assisted them in the various townships are feeling an honest and justified pride in what was done.

In addition to the sums raised for the Red Cross and the United War Work, the Woman's Council of National Defense raised $9,720.49 for its work, $3,266.84 was collected by other agencies for helping French children, and $575 was contributed.

A detailed statement of the amounts raised in the county in the various campaigns will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Telegraph.

From War to Peace In Automobile Life

As a single industry the automobile trade did more than its bit to help win the war. Not only did manufacturers come up to specifications in quantity and quality of delivery, but they built better than it was thought they knew how. Proof of this was given the other day when, at an auction of old army cars in France, the French and the English bid higher prices for the cars than they cost the American government new. An army of men was employed to run these trucks and cars on the firing line. They gained more experience in a month of that sort of work than they could have gained in a life time of peace work.

The rolling stock will be left abroad, but the men are coming back. They are being released daily from the military service, and are returning in large numbers, to civilian life. There is no lack of work for them to do. For the fleet of American trucks now coming into use for additional transportation facilities all over the country need just such men—men who have learned how to act in any emergency, who feel almost immediately the idiosyncrasies of every motor who have acquired an efficiency under shell fire that will make them leaders in their work in peace times.

Col. Arthur Woods, Assistant to the Secretary of War, who is in charge of the re-employment work for ex-service men, announces that a number of such men are now available for private employment. The automobile industry will not lose this opportunity of obtaining men who, to their pre-war ability, have added the exceptional training and experience of months on the firing line. These men will be in demand, and can be obtained through governmental and welfare employment agencies, who will put them in touch with employers who need their services.

King John's Bath.

As to the washing habits of royalty in former times, there is one thing, at least, to be remembered to King John's credit. His accounts show that that constantly traveling king nearly always had a bath at his resting places during his journey.

His "water man" could generally reckon upon getting the bath fee of fivepence. For to our early king, as to the modern sojourners in most hotels, a bath was officially accounted as an extra, to be paid for as such.

The royal water man obtained his special fee every time his majesty demanded a bath—except upon the three great church festivals. —London Chronicle.

When Did Civil War End?

Ask anybody the date of the Civil war's end. The answer will invariably be: "April, 1865." But, in a literal sense, that answer is all wrong.

The supreme court declared that the Civil war came to an end "at the period designated in the proclamation of the president of the United States."

That proclamation was dated April 2, 1865. Thus the Civil war came to a formal conclusion on that date, not in April of 1865.

"Up to and before that date" (April 2, 1865), says Secretary of State Bayard's decision, "the insurrection in those (the Confederate) states was held to exist. After that date it was held to be at an end."

Some Proposals

Edith—So Mr. Bronson proposed to you. Did you accept him?

Ethel—Mercy, no! He's too awfully matter of fact. Why, he proposed by asking me if I felt favorably disposed toward a unification of interests.—Boston Transcript.

Tassel in Cloth Dressing.

Few people probably have heard of tassel, which is grown for the purpose of cloth dressing. The wild tassel is found in English hedges and copes and bears a purple flower in July. The function of the tassel is to raise the nap of the cloth, although to some extent it has been superseded by the use of wire brushes.

Had Origin in America.

There has been much controversy over the song, "The Red, White and Blue," but the logical conclusion is that the English adapted their words from the American song, which was written by Thomas A. Becker, an Englishman, after he had made America his home. Before this song was written, in 1880, no similar version was known in England.

FRANKLIN GROVE AFFAIRS

MERITED ADVANCEMENT.

Irving L. Banker, who for several months has been employed with a grain company at Ulen, Ill., has accepted a position with a lumber and grain company at Creston, Ill. The offer came to Mr. Banker without any solicitation on his part and is a case of the job seeking the man. The position commands a good salary with opportunities for promotion and the business will be largely in charge of Mr. Banker, whose rapid advancement in the industrial world has been the result of earnest purpose and efficiency and the desire to serve well the interests of his employers.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Sunday afternoon, when the mercury had gone over the top and the heat waves were dancing a bolshoi in the air, the dancin' atmosphere, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Higley thought they would enjoy a ride in the country. Seated in the rear section of the Yankins train, with Miss Yanking at the wheel, they were soon speeding over the countryside of the city until finally reaching the open just beyond the Dunkard church where the road leads down into the "Valley of the Moon," the chauffeur lost control of the wheel and in a moment, the car had reversed its position and was upside down with its occupants underneath. That no one was seriously hurt was a remarkable and a fortunate thing. Miss Yanking suffered an injury to his shoulder but under careful treatment expects to recover soon.

A WORTHY SUGGESTION.

The farm adjoining Henry Hillman in the west was once the boyhood home of Robert J. Ingersoll, the noted orator. Here the Ingersoll family lived for some years and Robert himself played and passed many happy days of farm life and freedom. Mr. Ingersoll was one of the greatest word painters in America. While apparently seriously blind he possessed a poetic eye, overlooking with all the tender sentiments and emotions of life, which found expressions in the most beautiful language that ever charmed the minds of men. A natural poet, gifted writer, actor, statesman, philosopher, he fell only in catching a glimpse of the greatest poet of all the ages. Mr. Hillman made a good suggestion and which it is hoped will be fully carried out, the plan of having a large, comfortable home, suitably furnished with books, data etc., when might forever mark the spot and remain as a monument in Lee county to the memory of the great American who eulogized the words of Thomas Paine who said "The world is my country and to do good my religion."

GEOGRAPHICAL KNOWLEDGE SYMBOL OF PEACE AGENCY IN PAGEANT

Washington, D. C., July 28.—"Upon a better understanding of geography among the peoples of the earth depends a permanent peace."

This legend, which seemed to have a special significance to each of the thirty nations participating in the event, was illustrated in a float of the National Geographic Society in the mammoth pageant parade which marked the climax of Washington's unique observance of Independence Day by an international celebration of peace.

Participating in the international festival of peace were the diplomatic representatives of all associated and neutral nations of the world represented in Washington. With the sole exception of the float of the National Geographic Society, the parade, from the Treasury to the Capitol plaza was composed entirely of floats representative of these friendly nations.

The float of the National Geographic Society was symbolic of how the two functions of the society, "the increase and diffusion of geographical knowledge," gradually fuse people into that understanding of each other's customs and viewpoints which makes for tolerance and good will.

In the forefront were two explorers, one in costume adapted for explorations to the Arctic, another in raiment suitable for arid climates. These suggestive of the society's explorations which have radiated toward every point of the globe, including the assistance given Rear Admiral Peary in discovering the North Pole, and the society's party which uncovered the ruins of the "Lost City of the Incas," revealing fascinating accounts of pre-Columbian days in the equatorial regions.

To the rear of the float was a garantuan reproduction of the society's magazine, with pages open, portraying the medium of the diffusion of the knowledge gathered. Seven young women, attired in the characteristic costumes of Holland, Spain, Belgium, Japan, Ukraine and Algeria, emerged from its pages.

Between the explorers and the varied costumes, a pedestal bearing a globe and, "at the top of the world," stood a white robed figure of peace, proclaiming her sweet victory by a trumpet. She held seven ribbons, each clasped also by one of the seven young women of the nations. These were emblematic of the strands of mutual interests and friendships, begotten of better understanding, which ever bind nations more closely.

On the base of the float were carved the names of the society's numerous expeditions, including those to the terrific volcanic Mt. Katmai and the seething cauldron nearby, "The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes"; the North Pole and Hudson Bay; Mt. Pelee and Messina, where the society also sent expeditions to study volcanic and earthquake phenomena; the Peruvian city of Machu Picchu, and the giant red woods of the Sequoia, purchased by the society and presented to the government to be a part of that national park so that these mightiest and oldest of living things should not fall before the woodman's axe.

FORSAKE TRENCHES—CLIMB THE ALPS

Washington, D. C.—"Dispatches from Geneva stating that nearly 300 mountain climbers have lost their lives in the Alps since signing of the armistice indicates that what has been called the 'nobility of sports' is destined to spring into renewed popularity after its eclipse by the war," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"The death toll likewise conveys an obvious warning, not applicable alone to the Alps, that those who engage in this pastime should not be foolhardy enough to attempt going over the top of the world's peaks without competent guides and adequate safeguards."

"It is one of the queer quirks of human nature that the unknown expanses of mysterious waters should have lured explorers from earliest times and that mountain exploration should have been neglected until a few centuries ago. Indeed, it was nearly 300 years after Columbus made his daring voyage to the New World that Europeans looked to their mountains which, like the poor, always were with them, and made the first successful ascent of Mont Blanc."

"Some of this seemingly lack of curiosity concerning the ridges and peaks about them may be attributed to the fear of accident peoples for the gods they believed to inhabit the high hills, and to the late superstitions that devils, bad fairies and evil spirits lurked among them." The Alps, for example, were believed to be the dwelling place of dragons which, if disturbed, would swoop down to wreak vengeance upon the peoples below.

"Perhaps, for the same reason, mountains are not considered beautiful until recent times. Even in the time of Sir Walter Scott mountains were regarded as sore spots to mar the eye filling sweep of the plains. Writers of the Psalms, with sensitive appreciation of natural beauty, refer to hills as holy, rather than as beautiful places."

"There were sporadic attempts at mountain climbing through the centuries before the epochal ascent of Mont Blanc in 1786. Trajan, first mountain climber of profane history, ascended Elan to see the sun rise, but was a lone pioneer."

"For the most part the medieval attitude toward mountain passage seemed to be summed up by a Canterbury monk who prayed in the twelfth century, after traversing the Brecon Pass, 'Lord restore me to my bed, for I may tell them that they come not into this place of torment.' He prayed thus, he said, because 'the marble pavement of the stony ground is ice alone, and you cannot set your foot safely. I put my hand in my scrip that I might scratch out a syllable or two to your sincerity, lo! I found my ink bottle filled with a dry mass of ice; my fingers, too, refused to write, my beard was stiff with frost, and my breath congealed into a long icicle.' "Not until 1857 was the English Alps club formed and the scores of similar organizations have all been found since that date. Within the past half century the sport has flourished, the Alps have become thoroughly known, and mountains of other continents, including America, have been explored. Hand in hand with the sport of climbing has gone the adventure of scientific study, and the 'secrets of the hills' which the ancients feared have given to moderns a marvelous insight into glaciers, meteorology, and hitherto unknown plant and animal life of the peaks of snow and ice."

"How the world's history would have been transformed had the ancients conquered altitudes as bravely as they did the seas, is a fascinating object for speculation. But mountains have played a momentous part in national life from the time when Moses came down from Sinai with the Ten Commandments, to the present day when the sacred mountains of Shantung figured large in peace conference consideration of Japan's claims to part of that peninsula."

Forces Within.

Trials without discover forces within. Says Victor Hugo: "There are instincts for all the crises of life." A deep perplexity awakens a flash of insight; a bitter opposition sets the soul on fire; a brave peril opens our eyes to horses and chariots of fire; a severe catastrophe evokes a heroism of which the sufferer had not thought himself capable.—W. L. Watkinson.

Chief Executives Censured.

Congress has twice censured a president—Andrew Jackson, in June, 1834, for causing the removal of the government deposits of about ten million dollars from the United States bank the preceding September; and John Tyler, in 1843. Tyler was elected as a Whig, but was really a Democrat; so he was therefore constantly antagonizing the policies of the party which had elected him.

Drew Many to Worship.

Describing the three fair daughters of an aristocratic New Yorker a century or so ago a writer of the period says: "The father used to take his daughters to the church of Doctor Matthews, that stood in Garden street. Such a lovely trio were rarely seen. They took all the young gallants from the other downtown church and drew a full house."

Learning.

Learning, joined with true knowledge, is an especial and graceful ornament, and an implement of wonderful use and consequence. . . . I would rather prefer wisdom, judgment, civil customs and modest behavior, than bare and mere literal learning.—Montaigne.

The NEW EDISON

No Needles to Change
Even records of all other makes sound more human when played on The New Edison

A Boon Everywhere Music's Re-Creation

A phonograph is needed in every home. Most of all in the village, small city and farm homes.

Wherever you may be, whatever your station in life, really and truly the Edison Phonograph, with its laughter and merriment, with its refining, educating and soul-stirring influence should prove a Godsend to you.

On the lonely ranch, at the public meeting place, out with a camping party—and above all in the home—the Edison will do more for you to make life worth while than a score of other articles that you might buy for ten times the cost of an Edison.

That is the only term which can really describe Mr. Edison's wonderful phonograph. For it really creates music anew. It does more than merely reproduce music like the "talking machine." Everyone can tell "talking machine" music when they hear it, but actual tests before over two million music lovers have proved that when the music of the New Edison is heard side by side with the living artist who made the record, the ear cannot tell which is which.

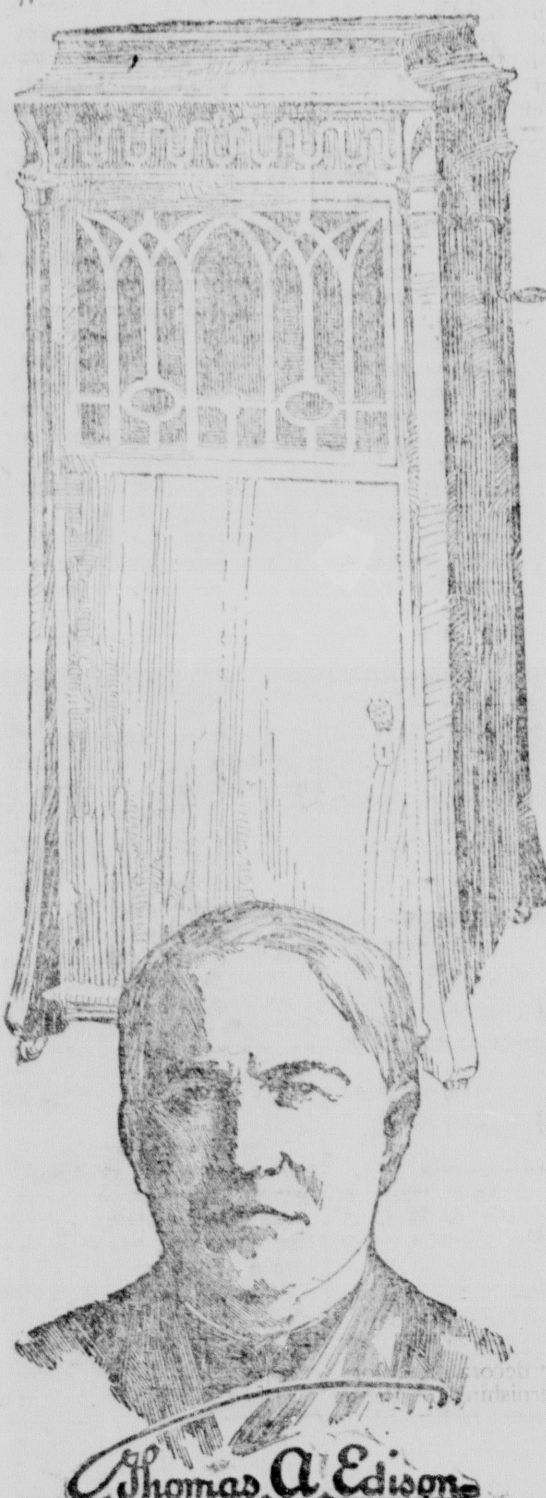

Yes, that is wonderful. But it took no less a genius than Thomas A. Edison, the world's greatest inventor, to accomplish such a miracle. The New Edison is his favorite invention. He worked for years and spent a fortune to perfect it. Now, since we make this liberal offer, will you be satisfied to have anything less than Music's Re-Creation in your home?

Don't Wait!

Don't deny yourself the pleasure which The New Edison will bring for another day. Come in and hear it. Bring your family. We'll gladly play any records for you which you would like to hear. Select your outfit and let us send it to your home on our liberal offer.

LONDON TOWER—WHERE "BILL" BE TRIED

(By Associated Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, D. C.—The Tower of London, suggested as a place where William Hohenzollern might be held pending his trial, is described in the following bulletin from the National Geographic Society:

"Place and prison, once noted also for its menagerie and its pageantry, birthplace and death house of monarchs' scent of hairbreadth escapes and reputed hidden treasure, ghastly in its memories and killings and sacred for its martyrs, the Tower of London amply warrants description as the 'most ancient and most poetic pile in Europe.'"

"William the Conqueror gave London a charter but built the White Tower to show the people how little that charter might mean. Like the English constitution the rambling London Tower of today is a product of centuries, and not one, but many towers, now are scattered over some 3 acres. The site had been a fortress since Roman times."

"To the Middle Tower Elizabeth came back a Queen five years after her jealous half-sister, Mary, had kept her there a prisoner. The hump-back Richard III hired three assassins to murder his nephew in Bloody Tower. Not until five years later were their bones found and taken to Westminster Abbey."

"Lady Jane Grey, she who 'had the birth of a Princess, the life of a saint, and the death of a malefactor,' was beheaded in London Tower. Henry VIII waited to hear a gun fired from White Tower, signal of the execution of Anne Boleyn, so he might marry Jane Seymour next day. Henry's minister, Thomas Cromwell, sent hosts of enemies to London Tower to be butchered until he helped pick Anne of Cleves for his much married monarch, but when Henry saw this prospective bride he pronounced her a 'Flanders mare' and off went Cromwell's head with the rest."

"Relieving such stories of royal cruelty are the immortal 'last words' of the brave men and women who laid their heads on the axeman's block."

"God forbid the King shall use any more such mercy to my friends," laughed Sir Thomas More when told that Henry VIII had 'mercifully' consented to let him be beheaded instead of hanged, and, to the executioner, as he moved his head aside, 'Pity that should be but that has not committed treason.'"

"The countess of Salisbury proudly refused to lay her head on the block because she had committed no wrong, so that, says an observer, apologizing for the executioner, 'he was constrained to fetch it off slovenly.'"

"If you strike me twice, I cannot promise you not to stir," warned Monmouth. Asked to raise his head a bit Algernon Sidney retorted, 'Not until the general resurrection; strike on.' 'Peter,' inquired Sir Walter Raleigh, to keep up the spirits of his attendant, 'Dost thou know of any plaster to set' a man's head on again when it was cut off?"

"Consigned to the tower for some 13 years Sir Walter set a fashion which made a salon out of the palace-prison. While he was not attending his garden, and distilling essence from plants, he wrote his quaint 'History of the World,' and there, too, William Penn wrote 'No Cross, No Crown,' not to mention the writing of the Duke of Orleans and Sir John Eliot."

"About the main entrance to the tower was a menagerie until a hundred years or so ago because Frederick II of Germany sent Henry III of England several panthers and Henry did not know what else to do with them. Later James I, who liked bear baiting, added those animals to the zoo."

"The warders, known as 'beef eaters,' probably because they once were fed on rations of meat, from one of the curiosities for London visitors. They wear Tudor costumes and, like the Swiss body-guard of the Pope, they kept their ancient costumes undisturbed by currents of modern fashion."

"Just before midnight the head warder and the porter, carrying a bunch of huge keys, go to the guard room, summon 'the escort of the keys,' made up of 'beef eaters' and then proceeded ceremoniously to lock the great outer gate. The pass word is given formally to sentries as the procession passes, and in conclusion the detail salutes the keys as the porter cries, 'God preserve the King.' Every three months the reigning king or queen sends the password of the Tower to the Constable, signed and sealed, and the Mayor of London is the only other outside person supposed to know it. This custom is a relic of the time when the Tower was primarily a fortress."

"Like the Bastille, London Tower has been made to steal the royal relics kept there which include the ancient 'anointing spoon' and Queen Elizabeth's salt cellar. One famous effort, in which a Col. Blood, disguised as a clergyman, nearly made way with the bejeweled crown, is thought by some to have been inspired by Charles II because he needed the money the rare gems would bring."

"One of the less well known, but most spectacular incidents, was the escape of two priests by a ruse that would have done credit to Monte Cristo. One of them, having been stung up by the hands for days, and then put in a rack while his wrists still were swollen, without making him betray his faith, wrote in orange juice to friends outside, for a light rope with a weight at one end. He also asked that a boat be brought to the river below. Cradled on a certain night, on that night he made his way to his fellow prisoner's room. The two flung the weighted end of the rope to their friends in the boat, pulled up a heavier rope, climbed from the steep walls to the boat safely, and made their escape."

"Lenin and Trotsky, feared these stalwart defenders of law and order, adopted the policy of 'Good riddance,' although not even their worst enemies have ever accused the Czechs of being bad rubbish. For a time the Czechs advanced, carload after carload rolling sonorous across—the many wide bridges from the Volga to the Ussuri."

"At this time the Red Guard of Siberia, which contained many German and Austrian prisoners of war, was organizing for an attack on Semenovoff, who with his band of ruffians and mercenaries was driving west along the Chinese Eastern Railway from Harbin toward the junction of the Amur River Railway and the main line of the Trans-Siberian at Karumskaya."

"The Czech General Staff train on which I was riding, was halted at Omsk, where both Czechs and Red Guards had recruiting stations. The trains of the two factions stood side by side in the railway yards. On May Day, 1918, the Siberian Red Guard, or International Proletariat Army, as it was called in Omsk, entrained for the Tschita district and soon puffed out for the east, which at that time was the end of the Czech rainbow."

"To have allowed determined Czechs to roll into the melee which the arrival of these Red Guard trains in Semenovoff's vicinity was sure to cause, was to endanger the success of the mercenaries of Semenovoff. Hence the Czech trains along a six thousand mile tract were stopped by orders from Moscow."

"Most of the Czech arms had been seized by the Reds, who explained that in France they would be issued new rifles and that Russia had need of all the guns they could obtain. But the Czechs had additional arms concealed in their train-homes and were more ready than was then suspected to accomplish the miracle of a conquered Siberia."

"The Bolsheviks walked into the trap which they had themselves prepared, for had they lived up to their promises, the Czechs would have all in Vladivostok by July. When the Reds attempted to disarm the Czech-Slovak Expedition, the Bohemians refused to be as meek as the anti-Bolsheviks usually were then and the result was a content saved for democracy while the world was hunting through its atlas to find out who these fighting men with the strange name really were, and what they were doing so far from home."

"With Gaid's whirlwind campaign around the end of Lake Balkal and the frustration of the Reds' attempt to cut the line of steel that forms the backbone of settled Siberia, the Czechs accomplished the most miraculous success of the war. The 25-year-old leader, Gaid, forgot red tape and did his duty before having his plans 'O. K.'ed' by Paris, London or Rome and thus saved Siberia until the Allied armies from the Pacific could come and add the Q. E. D. sign to the Czech achievement."

WAR TO WAR AROUND THE WORLD

Washington, D. C.—"Arrival of more than a thousand fighting Czechs in this country en route to their homes in Central Europe marks the beginning of the end of a sacrificial pilgrimage to the shrine of liberty," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"Seventeen months ago these intrepid warriors started out from the Kiev district of western Russia in railway cars some of which were decorated with the slogan, 'From War to War Around the World.'"

"At that time it looked as though the summer of 1918 would find them in Champagne of the Argonne. Joined with the thousands of their compatriots who were already fighting in the Allied armies to down the Hun."

"But a strange combination of circumstances delayed them in Siberia through the short summer of long days and the long winter of little sunshine while in Europe Armistice gave way to Peace Treaty."

"The bulletin quotes from a communication of Maynard Owen Williams, first American correspondent with the spectacular anabasis of the Czech-Slovaks across Siberia, as follows:

"Xenophon had a fine trip, if one is to judge from the occupants of his favorite press agent, and Napoleon and Sherman have made famous excursions, but when it comes to the world encircling vision of the Tourist Bureau writer and the doggedness of death, the wonderful Czechs take the palm."

"The war found them about as enthusiastic in their friendship for William Hohenzollern and his Potsdam confederates as they were for the Hapsburg House that betrayed them centuries ago, after they magnanimously joined the Austrians in the repulse of the hordes from Asia that then threatened Europe."

"Their going over to the enemy was one of the reasons why Germany's southern neighbor failed to pick up rapidly amid the heavy traffic that resulted from the mobilization of Europe."

"Bohemia formed the foremost salient thrust northward from Austria Hungary toward the heart of Germany and hence was subjected for centuries to the utmost Germanization measures. But the stout-hearted Czechs, who lost their independence the same year the Plymouth Pilgrims landed, did not lose their spirit of independence and 1914 was the date they had long awaited."

"Whole regiments of them went over to the foe. Other thousands were shot down by their Austrian companions in arms and all their organizations were heavily officered by the Germans or Magyars, whose methods and aims they hated. Thousands of them escaped to Russia, where they were sent to the cold Siberia or the malaria of the Tashkent region as prisoners of war."

"Many of them entered the Russian army under Kerensky but with the signing of the Brest-Litovsk treaty they lost faith in their Russian companions in arms and with a spirit of loyalty to the cause of freedom that no other group surpassed, they set out from Russia to cross Siberia, the Pacific, America, the Atlantic and France, to hurl themselves once more against their oppressors and traditional foes."

"When I met them in mid-April of last year, their 78 trains were strung out from the Ukraine to Lake Balkal, all moving toward the port of Vladivostok."

"Lenin and Trotsky, feared these stalwart defenders of law and order, adopted the policy of 'Good riddance,' although not even their worst enemies have ever accused the Czechs of being bad rubbish. For a time the Czechs advanced, carload after carload rolling sonorous across—the many wide bridges from the Volga to the Ussuri."

"With Gaid's whirlwind campaign around the end of Lake Balkal and the frustration of the Reds' attempt to cut the line of steel that forms the backbone of settled Siberia, the Czechs accomplished the most miraculous success of the war. The 25-year-old leader, Gaid, forgot red tape and did his duty before having his plans 'O. K.'ed' by Paris, London or Rome and thus saved Siberia until the Allied armies from the Pacific could come and add the Q. E. D. sign to the Czech achievement."

"The Czech General Staff train on which I was riding, was halted at Omsk, where both Czechs and Red Guards had recruiting stations. The trains of the two factions stood side by side in the railway yards. On May Day, 1918, the Siberian Red Guard, or International Proletariat Army, as it was called in Omsk, entrained for the Tschita district and soon puffed out for the east, which at that time was the end of the Czech rainbow."

"To have allowed determined Czechs to roll into the melee which the arrival of these Red Guard trains in Semenovoff's vicinity was sure to cause, was to endanger the success of the mercenaries of Semenovoff. Hence the Czech trains along a six thousand mile tract were stopped by orders from Moscow."

"Most of the Czech arms had been seized by the Reds, who explained that in France they would be issued new rifles and that Russia had need of all the guns they could obtain. But the Czechs had additional arms concealed in their train-homes and were more ready than was then suspected to accomplish the miracle of a conquered Siberia."

VICTORY DAY AT STATE FAIR WILL BE GREAT EVENT

Veterans of All Wars To Be Accorded Special Honors

Springfield, Ill. Aug. 1.—In a proclamation issued today, Gov. Frank O. Lowden declares a free gate for all war veterans at the Illinois State Fair on Wednesday, August 20, when a Victory and Old Soldiers' Day celebration will be held. Veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars are invited to be the guests of the state at the fair on that day.

The governor calls attention to the similarity of purpose of the soldiers in all three wars and urges the veterans to unite in a great Victory Day observance here.

The management of the state fair is preparing an elaborate program for the occasion. Among the speakers at a meeting which will be held on the fair grounds during the morning will be Col. Clarendon E. Adams, of Lincoln, Neb., commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; William Jones, of New York, commander in chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, and either Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., or Archie Roosevelt, representing the World War veterans. Governor Lowden will preside.

The Governor's proclamation is as follows:

"For almost half a century the Illinois State Fair has been free one day a year to the veterans of the Civil War, who fought in order that government of the people, by the people and for the people should not perish from the earth."

"Fewer in number, but also entitled to gratitude are the veterans of the Spanish-American War, who fought in the sacred cause of humanity. There now are added to the dwindling numbers of these veterans the thousands of American's brave soldiers returning from the greatest war of history. These men have fought for and preserved for America and all the world, the sacred rights their fathers had won and defended from Lexington to San Juan Hill. They return victorious."

"The Illinois Fair is a State institution operated by and for the people of Illinois. It affords an opportunity for the State to extend official recognition of the service of these veterans of three wars."

"Therefore, at the request and with the approval of the Department of Agriculture, I hereby designate Wednesday, August 20, Victory and Old Soldiers' Day at the Illinois State Fair. On that day the gates will be thrown open to all veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars, and they will be admitted to the grounds free of charge. Appropriate exercises in honor of the men and their achievements will be held during the morning. They will be given an opportunity to enjoy the attractions of the fair throughout the day."

"It is the urgent desire of the management of the fair that veterans take advantage of this invitation to be the guests of the State."

FURNISHING REFERENCES FOR FOUR MILLION EMPLOYEES

When an employer has no further use for one of his men, he considers his obligations fulfilled when he furnishes a perfunctory letter of recommendation to aid his discharged employee in getting his next job. An honorable discharge from Uncle Sam is worth more than a perfunctory recommendation from a private employer. But Uncle Sam, who finds it necessary now to dispense with the emergency services of four million fighting men, is not satisfied merely to put his John Hancock at the bottom of 4,000,000 pieces of engrossed paper. He wants if possible actually to place every one of these men into a civilian job.

When the war was on, the slogan of the government was to get the men out of their civilian jobs and into the army and navy. Now Uncle Sam's aim is to get them out of the service and into civilian jobs. This is a colossal task. It is much easier to transfer men from many employers to one than to reverse the process and distribute satisfactorily four million men among hundreds of thousands of employers.

By a nation-wide system of re-employment, operating under the unified direction of Colonel Arthur Woods, Assistant of the Secretary of War, the Government expects to make good on its voluntarily assumed task of seeing that every one of its discharged men gets a job. In the New York City Re-employment Bureau, operated by the War Department with the help of the War Welfare Organization and the Merchants' Association, about an equal number of applications for men is received as for jobs, and in many trades and occupations more jobs are offered than there are men to fill them.

The reason for the rapid absorption of the army into our civilian life lies in the patriotism of both the employer and the worker, and in the American sense of order. The American soldier has never learned the habits of the European who prefers to let the government do it for him. He feels it "up to" him to get back to work, and he does it.

Of course, while in the army and navy, the service man learned to work hard. He is no longer afraid of work, for almost any sort of civilian work is a vacation when compared to the hardships of the trenches. An educational campaign carried out by Col. Woods has convinced the employer of this, and he is quick to utilize the increased economic efficiency of the discharged soldier, sailor and marine. If it were not for the temporary disturbance of the business conditions on account of the European situation, we should now have no employment problem at all.

"Old Doc," Scoffed At By Marines, Now Their Hero, With War Cross

DR. JOHN H. CLIFFORD

To the world he is the Rev. Dr. John H. Clifford. His D. D. comes from no jerk-water college but from Oxford University, England, but the men of the Fifth Marines know him as "Old Doc" Clifford or "Baptist Doc" or just plain "Doc" and the Croix de Guerre he wears on his Y. M. C. A. uniform isn't half as dear to him as the Marine insignia on his cap and the eagle, globe and anchor buttons that the leathernecks sewed on his coat in defiance of all military regulations.

When he was first assigned to the Marines a husky non-com said to him:

"Get tuh hell out of here! We don't want any parson in our outfit."

But it was only about three weeks later that Dr. Clifford was stewing around camp bemoaning the loss of his coat and cap. It was the boys of the 45th Company who were at the bottom of it. The coat and cap both turned up, but the "Y" buttons had been ripped off the coat to be replaced by the regulation buttons of the Marines, and the Marine insignia was beside the Red Triangle on the cap.

The captain and the major made a great to-do. "Civilians oughtn't, couldn't, shouldn't wear the insignia of the corps," Colonel Doyen, who died of pneumonia soon after being promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, heard about it and started an investigation. He made a special ruling as follows:

"If the boys want you to wear the insignia, Doc, it stays on. What they want goes with me."

How "Doc" won his Croix de Guerre is another story. It deals with a wounded colonel in a front line trench; of crossing an open field where machine gun bullets were whistling through the air waist high and explosives were being dropped every few minutes by a squadron of eighteen German airplanes; of the rescue of the colonel and of carrying him back through a rain of projectiles to safety.

And Doc Clifford remembers that as an "amusing incident!"

"Corporal Starling was with me," he said, "and he kept telling me to keep low as we were crawling along dragging that old stretch-er. How could I keep low with a stomach like mine?"

He didn't force his religious services on the men. They asked for them. One he will always remember. It was inspired by an East Side New York Jew, and held in a little Catholic church. The group that joined in prayer and hymns included representatives of nearly every religious belief and many who professed no belief at all.

After the benediction one of the boys remarked seriously:

"Do you know, Doc, that was a damned good meeting!"

If you want to know more of what the marines thought of Dr. Clifford, you will have to ask some of them. But if you want to know how the leathernecks impressed an Oxford Doctor of Divinity, a Baptist minister from Tucson, Arizona, who has lived the life of a real man and has worked among men from Northwest Canada to the Island of Java and from New Mexico to No Man's Land, read for yourself what Dr. Clifford says of the Marines.

"Maybe you who have not been through hell over there will not believe it, but I say without a doubt in my mind that every one of my boys who went west, and every other lad who died over there, has gone straight to heaven."

"Every man in that outfit was exactly one hundred per cent. man, and not afraid to lay down his life. I've witnessed so many acts of heroism among my boys that there isn't paper enough to set them down."

Glass-Bottomed Bucket.

INDIGESTION Caused by Acid-Stomach

Millions of people—in fact about 9 out of 10—suffer more or less from indigestion, acute or chronic. Nearly every case is caused by Acid-Stomach.

There are other stomach disorders which also are sure signs of Acid-Stomach—belching, heartburn, bloating after eating, food repelling, sour, gassy stomach. There are many ailments which, while they do not cause much distress in the stomach itself, are nevertheless, traceable to an acid stomach. Among these are nervousness, biliousness, cramps of the liver, rheumatism, impoverished blood, weakness, insomnia, melancholia and a long train of physical and mental miseries that keep the victims in miserable health year after year.

The right thing to do is to attack these ailments at their source—get rid of the acid-stomach. A wonderful modern remedy called EATONIC now makes it easy to do this.

One of hundreds of thousands of grateful users of EATONIC writes: "I have been troubled with indigestion for about nine years and have spent quite a sum for medicine, but without relief. After using EATONIC for a few days the gas and pain in my bowels disappeared. EATONIC is just the remedy I needed."

We have thousands of letters telling of these marvelous benefits. Try EATONIC and you, too, will be just as enthusiastic in its praise. Your druggist has EATONIC. Get a big 50c box from him today. He will refund your money if you are not satisfied.

Their 110 Per Cent War Record Made Possible By Faithful Collie

Two Sons Enter Army, Mother and Dog Work for Red Cross and Father Goes Overseas for "Y."

A 110 per cent American family! That is, if a fine patriotic American collie is worth 10 per cent, and most Americans will acknowledge he is.

This is the proud record of the family of Louis Goldsmith Jones, a newspaper and publication man, who served for the last eight months with the Y. M. C. A. in France. Father, mother, two boys and the collie all enlisted in America's fight—and not one of them was required to do so.

The two sons of the family, then aged eighteen and nineteen, enlisted in 1917, and are still serving in the army. Mrs. Jones next enlisted in the Red Cross, and last summer Mr. Jones joined up with the "Y" as a hut secretary and went to France.

This was too much for a real American dog, who was already aching for action. Upon him had fallen the responsibility of guarding the home with the three men away, and only his presence permitted them to go. But he took more than that upon his silken shoulders, and volunteered to carry his mistress's packages to and from the Red Cross each morning and night.

Mr. Jones, while abroad, had the honor of working entirely among heroes. Immediately upon his arrival in Paris he was ordered to Beau Desert near Bordeaux, where the largest convalescent camp in the world had been planned and was in the first stages of building. He put up tents here and started his Y. M. C. A. activities while work was being carried forward on his hut.

The men at this camp were all soldiers who had seen action, had been wounded, and were now convalescing to go back into the fight. They were a long faced lot when the "Y" man arrived among them, and when he first started games, about the most strenuous they could cope with was croquet. Pitching horseshoes and quoits came next, then some tennis, and some football kicking, but very little actual ball playing. Those of the men who were well enough helped with the building of the army barracks, and it was a common sight to see a man walking with a cane and carrying a load of boards on his shoulder.

Mr. Jones was assisted in the athletic work at different times by Russel Starkey, Al Orth and Fred Huiz, all Y. M. C. A. athletic directors.

Mr. Jones has worked on the editorial staffs of the Kansas City Journal, the Chicago Herald, and the Curtis Publishing Company, and has been the Northeastern Representative of the Pictorial Review.

HONEST JOBS FOR WOUNDED MEN

There is a soul-stirring song about the man who walked slowly down Piccadilly, with "his arm thrown over a crutch." And he was finer than any lord.

Thousands and thousands of men there are with empty sleeves, with halting crutch, with blinded eyes, with weakened lungs and fragile hearts. These men are the aftermath of war. But they need not be the sad aftermath of war. They can be useful to themselves and useful to the world. And happiness lies in that for them!

They may pave the way for a vast system which will take charge of the industrial wounded, a system which will be profitable only if it is based on sound economics and not on pity.

Col. Arthur Woods, whose Assistant of the special work of correlating all governmental, private and welfare organizations for the re-employment of ex-service men, is procuring jobs for thousands of men a week, is making a special effort to make good the country's tacit promise that it will take care of those men who have been wounded in service.

The army is taking care of these men physically. But beyond that lies the larger task of retraining the disabled men into economic life.

A soldier who is given a job because he is a cripple is being cheated of honest belief in himself. But a disabled soldier who is given a job where his disability is of no significance feels that his economic existence has been justified.

Col. Woods has made a wide canvass of the situation. And he has found that there are numerous jobs in factories, in offices, where a lacking arm, an artificial limb, will no more impair the usefulness of a worker than lack of glasses would impair the powers of a man whose eyesight is perfect. A specific instance is cited by an automobile manufacturer who found a blind man more efficient in sorting and counting parts than two other men combined who had done the same work before.

Further classification of trades and parts of trades in which particular disabilities will not destroy a worker's efficiency, will put the employment system of disabled men on a sound economic basis. Col. Woods suggests that employers co-operate with the war department to the extent of examining the working conditions of their men, and where sound business principles justify it, make application for ex-service men who have certain physical handicaps.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

FROM JAKE SNYDER.

Stating that the Germans are accepting peace with far from a good grace and believing that they will be at it again soon, Jacob Snyder writes to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Snyder, July 3, 1919.

Dear Dad and Mother:

Your letter of June 17th came a few days ago; came over in 13 days. We had expected to be out of here by now but orders were changed a few times so don't know when we will leave. You will know when we will sail by the papers and I will wire you when we land. We have everything turned in except the cars and they have been working them overtime. Tonight is the first time I have had a chance to write. I am teaching the major how to run the car. He is going to have one when he gets back.

I didn't enlist; sure glad of it. I want to be free when I get back. I have been made wagoner; get same pay as a corporal, $39.60.

See Chicago is planning on a parade for the 4th division Illinois boys. We are not sure yet if we will be sent to the different camps or not but probably will. Everything is quiet around here. They took peace a little hard, but don't know if they mean to keep it or not. I believe in ten years they will be at it again; that is the way it looks to me.

I see young McCarty nearly every day. You know his father used to run the Dixon Inn. He is with a hospital corps.

Tomorrow is the Fourth of July. They are going to have a big time there. Don't know if the Major is going or not.

We are allowed to buy things to eat now and I have been feeding up. So Gordon is married.

Suppose mother is just working her head off. I must go now. Here is hoping I will be with you all soon. Love to mother and granddad.

Your son, JAKE.

Camp publications, resulted in a further expense of $923,629, including the purchase of 270,000,000 envelopes and twice as many sheets of writing paper. The "Y" it is said, also spent for its territorial war work, in the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, the Philippines and other territories, $269,624 in the munitions and war industries, $192,288 and in the Students' Army Training Corps, $442,661.

Of the $16,042,695 spent for the armies of the Allied countries, it is shown, France received $6,728,744, Russia $4,805,985, and Italy $3,129,951. Work among war prisoners cost $1,058,591. The latter sum was divided as follows: Germany, $117,988; Denmark, $89,987; Austria-Hungary, $146,512; Switzerland, $247,950; Turkey, $50,206 and in other countries $300,645. Of the total amount thus expended the war work council contributed $14,409,175.

Transportation of comforts and luxuries to the cantons and soldiers in the field, it is shown, represented a considerable item, the installation of a motor truck service cost $2,702,034 and its operating expense $1,170,761.

Secretaries Cost $3 Million

The cost of selecting, recruiting, training and paying the sustenance and traveling expenses of all the "Y" secretaries was $3,056,502. Administrative, general activities, campaign and publicity expenses disbursed in New York were said to have totaled $1,164,802.

In accounting for the balance of $27,465,854 as of March 31, 1919, the statement lists assets of the War Work Council on that date as $43,333,166. These included, it is said, $8,835,881 cash on hand; and assets overseas amounting to $18,761,676. Canteen supplies on hand and in transit on that date also included, it is said, goods to the value of $5,992,591. Outstanding accounts were said to aggregate $9,735,366.

"On the same date," the statement concludes, "current liabilities and reserves amounted to $15,867,312, including $2,794,964 in bills and salaries due in the United States and $6,594,720 due overseas. There was charged against the Y. M. C. A. $1,627,285 representing remittances received from the men of the A. E. F., for transfer to the United States. It owed the British, French and United States governments, for transportation and supplies $3,022,538."

HORSE'S RELATION WITH BIG CIRCUS

A circus without horses would be like a kite without a tail. The noble horse is an adjunct as absolutely necessary to the show as the rudder is to a ship. It is indeed doubtful if there would have ever been a circus had there never been a horse, even as far back as the time when Rome sat proudly on her seven hills and ruled the world, the horse occupied an important place in the gala day events that took place between her Coliseum walls, and today, after the lapse of several thousand years, with steam, electricity, and gasoline, as the principal motive power of the age. The horse is still loved as of old. Every one admires a handsome horse, from the toddling infant, with his fiery rocking steed of wood, to the millionaire who counts the choicest strains of equine blood in his aristocratic string.

The Al G. Barnes big four ring wild animal circus which will be in Dixon, Ill., August 5th, carries approximately 550 horses this year, of which more 300 are baggage stock of work horses. The others, known as ring stock, are the high bred performing animals. No, the motor will never supplant the circus horse. Can you imagine a circus parade without a horse? A great, glittering pageant coming down the crowded highway aboard motor driven vehicles? Fancy might visualize such a saddening sight, but what circus going crowd would understand? The two mile long street parade that the Al G. Barnes show will give here will be entirely new as far as features are concerned, but will be drawn by horses. The parade leaves the show grounds promptly at 10:30 a. m., passing through the principal downtown section. Doors to the big show open at 1 and 7 p. m., allowing one hour to get acquainted with the animal actors and listen to a free band concert by the thirty-piece band before the performance an hour later.

For After Effects of the "FLU" and Other Weakening Diseases

If you are weak, dizzy, tired and nervous from the "after effects" of enervating diseases, the tonic, strength renewing REOLO Treatment will restore your strength—revitalize the exhausted blood, eliminate the toxic poisons—tone up the heart and nervous system and give renewed vigor, vitality, strength and energy.

Pain, headache, backache, nervousness, dizziness, anaemia, dyspepsia, biliousness, congestion, constipation, etc., are but Nature's warning signals that the blood is full of deadly germs or that the cells of some part of your body are starving for their natural food—just as a plant droops and dies for lack of water.

Any tissue of the body deprived of oxygen dies at once. The life of each individual cell is brief and without oxygen no new cells can be built; neither can they without the necessary cell salts.

The cells are not fed. They feed themselves but do not feed blindly upon every substance that comes their way. They know how to choose the particles they wish to absorb. Nothing foreign to their constituent parts can be forced upon them except to produce injury or death.

REOLO

Restores Vigor and Vitality

eliminates the toxic poisons, rapidly increases the red blood cells—revitalizes the blood with life-giving oxygen—and restores strength and energy. It tones up the heart action and nervous system—stimulates the digestion, and assimilation—renews the exhausted cells. REOLO makes the weakness and dizziness that are so frequently the after effects of the "Flu" and other enervating diseases disappear as shadows vanish before the sunshine.

Oxygen is the life-giver—necessary to maintain life. REOLO absorbs the oxygen from the air in the lungs and carries it into the blood—rapidly oxidizing or revitalizing the red blood cells—and increasing the amount of hemoglobin in the blood, sending through the entire body a stream of rich, vitalized, health-giving blood that nourishes every cell, of the nerves, tissues, brain and bones.

By special arrangement with the Dr. A. L. Reusing Laboratories, Akron, Ohio, we have been appointed Licensees for the distribution of "REOLO" direct from the Laboratories, each package certified by Dr. A. L. Reusing and positively guaranteed to give satisfactory results or we will gladly refund your money. Large box of "REOLO", (100 tablets) price $1.00

DIXON WIFE'S
UMBRELLA TOO MUCH FOR VAMP

Sterling "Affinity" Is Routed In Short
Encounter

A stout umbrella, painstakingly and effectively welded by a Dixon woman, put a noticeable dent in one side of the "eternal triangle" late Thursday afternoon when the Dixon woman laid on waiting for her husband and his "affinity" on Second street and by free use of the umbrella despoiled the alleged "vampire's" beauty, drove her toward Sterling—her home—much sooner than the wife had heard she had intended to leave, and then taking hubby by the arm, escorted him to their home in North Dixon, making the crossing via the railroad bridge. What transpired after she got him there deponeth sayeth not.

According to witnesses of the one-sided battle, consternation supreme was evidenced on the face of the man and his companion when friend wife hove into view. Preliminary arguments were extremely limited, and the umbrella was brought into action. In a decidedly short time the "affinity" was getting away from the neighborhood as rapidly as she could, her clothing torn and ruffled, her hair disheveled and blood trickling from a gash in her forehead.

With the hasty retreat of the enemy, friend wife, a believer in the theory that to the victor belong the spoils, saw to it that hubby accompanied her home and there the curtain is drawn. No warrants have been issued.

Rock Island Shops At Silvis Deserted by
1,500 Men

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—President Wilson today asked congress to create a special investigating commission to pass on the wage increases asked by the railway shopmen and other railway employees.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—Approximately 100,000 railway shopmen in the Chicago district, which embraces the territory within 200 miles of this city, went on a strike today for higher wages. The shopmen in the Atlanta, Ga., district also walked out, it is said.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—Fifteen hundred shopmen employed by the C. R. I. and P. railroad at Silvis, Ill., went out on strike at 10 o'clock this morning in accordance with the strike call issued late yesterday by the Chicago district railroad council meeting in Chicago.

The Chicago district railroad council represented 114,000 railroad shopmen in the Chicago district, of which the Silvis shopmen are a part, and the remainder of the membership is expected to go out upon receipt of the strike order.

The strike was called for the enforcement of the men's demand for an increase in wages amounting to 17 cents an hour. They now receive 68 cents and are asking 85 cents. They also demand back pay at the increased rate from January 1, last. They ask no change in hours as they now have an eight-hour day.

STOLEN WOOSUNG CAR
IS RECOVERED BEFORE
OWNER KNOWS LOSS

Hired Man Apprehended
With Machine by Sterling
Police

Through a fortunate combination of circumstances a fine Hudson super-six automobile, the property of George McGrath, of Woosung, stolen by Leo Foitag, aged 17, who had been working for him, was recovered in Sterling and the thief arrested before Mr. McGrath knew the machine had been stolen.

Very early yesterday morning young Foitag, a poor driver and with very little knowledge of the mechanism of an automobile, drove into the ditch on the Lincoln Highway near the home of Supervisor William Andreas in Palmyra, and being unable to get the car out alone, he awoke the supervisor and asked assistance. Mr. Andreas noticed that the young driver seemed very nervous and did not seem to know about driving; therefore he telephoned the Sterling police to be on the watch for the machine, giving it as his opinion that the car had been stolen.

Officer Ben Reel, night police in Sterling, got the call and stationed himself at the arch at First avenue and Third street. Shortly the boy drove along, the policeman hopped on the running board and ordered the lad to drive to the curb and stop. When questioned the driver said he was going to his home in Quincy, Ill., by way of Clinton, Ia., where he expected to get his sister.

He gave several names and Officer Reel caught him in fifteen lies in fifteen minutes. He was taken to the police office and was quizzed by Officers Reel and Martin. He finally confessed to having taken the automobile and said he wanted to go to Sterling and then catch a train to his home, which he gave as several different cities in this state and Kentucky.

The license number of the car was issued to George McGrath of Woosung, and he was called on the phone and asked regarding his car. He said he owned a Hudson Super Six and that it was out in his garage. When Officer Reel asked him to go out and look, he came back in a hurry, saying, "It's gone! It's gone!" He was asked regarding Foitag and said that the young man had been working for him. He went to Sterling yesterday, had the front axle straightened and drove his car home.

In a pocket book carried by the young man the police found $25 in bills and a book in which he had his name written, Leo Foitag, and his address as Woodlawn, Ill.

Sheriff Eanning, of Ogle county, went to Sterling yesterday and took the young man back to Oregon, where he will be arraigned.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—A special committee to consider means of reducing the high cost of living was appointed at the meeting yesterday of members of President Wilson's cabinet with Attorney General Palmer. The committee will compile suggestions thus far made and report to the cabinet Monday when further steps will be taken.

One suggestion made, Mr. Palmer said, was to determine by the law of supply and demand the price of wheat, to be determined by the law of supply and demand.

Composing the special committee are Director General Hines, of the railroad administration; Federal Trade Commissioner Colver and Assistant Secretary Leffingwell, of the treasury department.

Mr. Palmer conferred with Secretary Tamm at the white house today and he said afterwards that the work of the special committee would be to embody all suggestions into "a comprehensive program, attacking the high cost of living all along the line, by way of the law of enforcement and the law of suggestion."

He added that natural causes for high living costs were accelerated by other causes "commonly known as profiteering."

CHICAGO RIOTS
AT END; 34 DIE
IN WEEK'S ORGY

Black Belt Is Closely
Guarded by State
Militiamen

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 1.—Law and order prevailed in Chicago today. Six thousand state troops patrolled the scene of the recent race riots on the south side but they had little to do. No serious disturbances were reported up to noon and public officials expressed the opinion that practically all danger of further violence has passed.

As a precautionary measure, however, the state troops will be kept on duty for several days longer.

Three more victims of race riots died today bringing the total number of deaths to 35 with about 1,500 injured.

One policeman was killed and 26 injured in battling with the rioters.

Five of the injured policemen may die.

Chicago, Ill., August 1.—With state troops in full control in the "black belt" of Chicago the rioting that has terrorized that section for four days and nights was pronounced by state and city officials "at an end" today. The total dead since the fight at the Twenty-ninth street bathing beach on Sunday, the inception of the race riot, which resulted in the drowning of a negro lad is 32—13 negroes and 19 whites. The total of the injured has not been officially tabulated, but is known to be more than 300, and may exceed 500.

Adjutant General Dickson said today that the situation was well in hand, and that while the members of race hatred were doubtless still smoldering, he feared no further outbreak. However, field commanders in the riot zone, were under orders not to relax their vigilance and to "act promptly and decisively" at the first indication of a renewal of the outbreaks. During the night several calls were made for troops at points within the zone and in some instances shots were fired, but quick responses to the summons led to suppression of altercations. The night, as was the day it followed, developed no serious disorders.

PACT PROVISIONS

Provides That Germans Give List of Guilty Persons

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—The protocol to the German peace treaty, defining explanations of the treaty agreed to in memorandums exchanged between the German and allied plenipotentiaries, was laid before the senate today by Vice President Marshall. The documents were transmitted yesterday by President Wilson, but too late for submission before today.

The protocol was accompanied by explanatory letters from President Wilson and Secretary Lansing. The protocol and the correspondence were referred to the foreign relations committee.

Among the provisions in the protocol is one requiring the German government to transmit to the allied and associated governments within one month after the treaty becomes effective a list of persons who are accused of having committed acts in violation of the laws and customs of war.

Another paragraph provides for the appointment of a commission to supervise the destruction of the German fortification on Heligoland in accordance with the German treaty.

Provision is also made that "proceedings be taken against persons who committed punishable offenses in the liquidation of German property" in the allied countries and protocol says the allied and associated powers will welcome information or evidence the German government can furnish on this subject.

COMING EVENTS

PLACING OF CENTENARY FUND.
The officials of the joint Missionary centenary have announced from Chicago headquarters some of the projects for which the $114,000,000 subscribed will be used. The foreign missionary plan is as follows:

The extension of the work of the church by keeping up the present equipment and adding necessary new equipment for the new day. Assistance will be given to 1,174 institutional and village churches; 164 missionary residences; 596 primary schools; 51 secondary schools; additional equipment for 25 universities, colleges and other educational institutions in the foreign fields; 55 missionary residences; 1,000 native residences; 7 presses; 45 hospitals; 24 dispensaries and other buildings; and 11 doctors' residences.

The plan for home missionary work includes 2,006 new buildings, 1,035 remodelled buildings, 1,044 missionary ministers, 250 language professors, 258 directors of religious education, 486 women workers, 131 deaconesses, 46 superintendents, 48 district evangelists and 115 other workers. To carry out this work in the home field it will be necessary to set aside $40,000,000.

In addition it has decided to devote $5,000,000 for each of the next five years to be used for the work of reconstruction in Europe and America.

A portion of the sum is to be applied to war relief work in France, Italy, Armenia, and other stricken countries of Europe for establishing orphanages, schools, hospitals, and other institutions which have social work for their motive rather than church work proper.

In the home field $123,450 has been set aside for the North American Indian, $2,588,670 for the Negro, $6,632,800 for industrial groups, $6,808,750 for downtown transient, $5,113,645 for rural Methodism, $2,694,450 for Christian leadership.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

By JANE PHELPS.

EDMONDS DENIES HIS ENGAGEMENT

CHAPTER XXXV.

I had learned a lot from Hetty's aunt, yet there were many questions I would have liked to ask. But Hetty motioned me to leave her, and really she looked so ill I felt almost guilty that I had allowed her to talk so long.

So Leola had been her own worst enemy. Hetty's aunt had said she loved him, yet she was always making him angry; and that he loved her in everything. Why had he so changed? He never gave in to me in anything. Another sure proof—that he loved her—that he did not love me. She used to do things to make him jealous, to show her power over him. Perhaps that made him love her too. To know she could make others like her. Hetty's aunt had said:

"Never was a woman loved like he loved her. I ain't surprised he waited nine years before he married again." I felt positive that even after nine years he still loved her—at least loved her memory so much that it prevented him caring for me—unless he cared for someone else!

He had not blamed her when the baby was born dead either, he had grieved terribly. And it was really her fault. It must be wonderful to be loved like that! But more than all was I hurt by what she said about his taking Leola in his arms like he would a baby, and petting and cooing her until she became quiet. When I cried he scolded me. It was all too complicated.

I hoped I might go and see Hetty's aunt again. There were a lot of questions I wanted to ask her. But she died that week. Hetty was heartbroken, and I tried to comfort her. Her aunt had been the only relative she had in the world. But even while I was talking to the weeping girl, I was sorrowing myself because she could not tell me anything more of Leola.

All my wonder at Everett's indifference to Barrett Edmonds's call had evaporated when he told me that he and Dagmar Stewart were going to be married. I had other plans, but Everett knew nothing of them. And so long as he didn't object to Barrett calling, I would perhaps have a chance to carry them out.

To my delight he called me up again soon after the day he came with Dagmar, and asked if I cared to have another 'sing' him. I should be delighted, and he said he would come in about 4 o'clock.

He came in promptly, with a roll of music under his arm. I put Rose's picture where it would be the first thing he saw. But to my disappointment, he said nothing about it. After we had tried two or three new pieces I said:

"Don't you admire that picture? I think Rose very lovely."

"She is very pretty, but—I prefer a different type," he looked at me so meaningfully that I flushed radically, and fumbled the music so that several sheets fell on the floor.

"She will visit me this summer. I do want her to have a nice time. We have been just like sisters ever since we were babies."

"You may be sure I shall do all in my power to help you entertain her," he said. Then he forgot all about Rose in talking of some concert he had attended where the music was exceptionally fine.

"It's because he's engaged to Miss Stewart," I said to myself, hardly able to hide my disappointment that he had not enthused over Rose. I did so want her to live next to me.

I wanted dreadfully to ask him if it were true that he was engaged, but I saw no opportunity until just before he left. Then he referred to Rose.

"Be sure and call upon me to help you when your friend arrives." "Indeed I will, but perhaps—Miss Stewart won't—like you to. Rose is very pretty." I knew I had said an awkward thing, awkward for both of us, yet I waited eagerly for his answer.

"What has Miss Stewart got to do with it? Ah, I see!" He did not wait for an answer. "You have heard that silly rumor too. Really, poor Dagmar will have to hurry her wedding or she will be married to me in spite of herself."

A rush of joy swept over me. I thought it was gladness because of Rose.

"Then she isn't—"

"Going to be married? Yes she is," he interrupted, "but not to me. Less people in Hendon make her marry me in self-defense. Dagmar has been engaged to an out-of-town man for a year. He, as well as she, is a friend of mine. He looks to me that Dagmar has an occasional escort and in trying to show her a little attention it seems I have started something."

So there was a chance for Rose after all. I must have looked awfully relieved, because he said with a queer look in his eyes:

"I am flattered that you are pleased," and before I could really give a thought to what he had meant he was gone.

WILSON ATTEMPTS TO DEADEN PATRIOTISM CHARGE OF SEN. FALL

Would Have Senate Help Him By Adopting His League Program

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—President Wilson, the league of nations and the German peace treaty, were criticized by Senator Fall, of New Mexico, republican member of the foreign relations committee, in an address today in the senate.

Urging adherence to the American policy against European entanglements Senator Fall declared President Wilson was asking the senate to join him in "deadening American patriotism."

The league of nations, Senator Fall said would create "a great super-government," subvert the American government, strike at the power of congress and result in the surrender of American freedom.

Exploit Weaker Races.
Other provisions of the peace treaty were declared by Mr. Fall to exploit weaker races and nations and establish selfish rights.

"The president appeals to the senate," said Senator Fall, "to join him in overturning the American policy of 140 years in undermining every influence with other nations which that policy has created and maintained; in deadening the influence of American patriotism, here at home; in rendering obsolete the word patriotism in our vocabulary; in joining this nation, now possessing the confidence, respect and admiration of the people of the other nations, in a bond of alliance with the very selfish nations who have caused our conduct to stand out in such brilliant contrast and in a council where our freedom of action hereafter will be controlled by the vote of eight of these nations. We are requested—may we be commanded—to surrender our freedom, to yield our sovereignty to subvert our government."

Destroy Government of Fathers.
"Joined with the other people of the world in this so-called peace treaty; constituting only a fraction of the governing body of the league; unable within the league to impress ourselves and our ideas and to make our demands, as we could if it because of the fact that we delegate to others the right to vote, eight votes to one against us in any matter of selfish interest in which they can unite; we have not only destroyed the government of our fathers, but in my mind, we have committed a crime against the nations of the earth, against civilization itself and retarded for more than a thousand years that reign of Christ which we all hope will eventually bring the people of the earth together."

Regarding opposition to reservations protecting the Monroe doctrine, American sovereignty, immigration and other democratic questions, Senator Fall said that in 1912 every democrat including many now in service, insisted upon and voted for reservations to arbitration treaties then submitted by President Taft expressly reserving these questions.

HUGH JENNINGS SUSPENDED.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Boston, Aug. 1.—Notice of his indefinite suspension was received by Manager Hugh Jennings of the Detroit Americans before the Tigers left this city for New York last night. This action by President Johnson of the American league was a result of an argument between Jennings and Umpire Moriarity during the double header here Wednesday.

MAYOR STOPPED OWEN'S ADDRESS

Owens started to make good on his promise to deliver the interrupted address at the same corner.

The city's executive was present before Mr. Owens started to speak and again told him he could not deliver that speech on the streets of this city. A big crowd gathered to witness the continuation of the trouble which had resulted in the Moline man being placed under arrest on the charge of disturbing the peace, hearing of the evidence on the charge having been twice continued, the last time until August 28.

Owens Under Arrest

The clash between the Socialistic lecturer and the mayor last evening resulted in the Moline man being placed under arrest by order of the mayor and he was arraigned before Police Magistrate Kellar on a charge of resisting an officer. He was taken to the city hall where the Magistrate held him under bonds of $50, which were furnished by Attorney H. A. Brooks and X. F. Gehant, the last of whom is the complaining witness against the mayor in the suit now pending, which grew out of the meeting on July 3.

More Arrests Coming

However local Socialists say that the arrest of Owens is not the only one that will result from last evening's clash. Attorney Brooks, who was called to the city hall to counsel with Owens after he had been arrested by Chief Van Bibber and taken to the police station, stated this morning that during the day he would have the city's chief officer arrested on a charge of "inviting a fight" and he asserted that the mayor was liable to arrest on at least ten different charges for his part in last evening's affair, intimating, also, that all of the charges would be pressed.

Some of the local Socialists are exceedingly wrathful in their charges that mayor pushed Owens, who they say is a cripple, to the sidewalk in his efforts to take a book, from which the speaker proposed to read his address, away from him. During the argument at the street meeting, which the Socialists claim started before Owens had begun his speech, the mayor is said to have told the Moline man that if he wanted to deliver that speech in Dixon he would have to "hire a hall," and to have taken the speaker's book away from him.

Dared Brooks to Fight?

At the city hall the session was continued. Attorney Brooks is authority for the statement that the mayor said to him "You ought to be in Ft. Leavenworth" and to have offered him $5 to go with him (the mayor) to some secluded spot and fight it out, to which Brooks made reply "Only bulls fight, men don't."

The argument at the city hall, according to all witnesses, assumed a very personal basis, and references to the past history of all of the participants were made with lightning like rapidity.

Corn Crop Saved By General Heavy Rain

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 1.—Rains which fell generally throughout the corn belt of Illinois last night were worth thousands of dollars to farmers, according to Clarence J. Root, meteorologist of the federal weather bureau.

Precipitation at Springfield was .38 of an inch.
"The rain relieved the drought in most sections of the state," Mr. Root said, "although southern portions still are suffering. The menace to the corn crop is removed."

Moderate temperature is promised for the immediate future.

Y.M.C.A. Girl's Divisional Shawl Rivals Joseph's Celebrated Coat

Joseph never prized his coat of many colors more highly than Miss Helen Colley values the knitted shawl embellished with the insignia of the forty divisions she helped to entertain during her six months' service on the other side with the Overseas Theatre League of the Y. M. C. A.

The insignia were presented her by the doughboys and were sewed in place one by one as she made her way from the base ports of France clear into the most advanced areas held by the American Army of Occupation.

Miss Colley, whose home is in Bryn Athyn, Pa., was formerly a music teacher in the Bryn Academy. Later she served as accompanist to the baritone Henry Scott, and still more recently acted as secretary to Oscar Stagle of New York.

While the fighting was still in progress Miss Colley volunteered for service abroad and was assigned as accompanist to the Liva Wires, a vaudeville team consisting of Frank Vardman and Harry Perry. They had a reputation for being hard workers, and not infrequently gave three or four and even five performances a day. That is how it happened that Miss Colley came in contact with so many divisions.

And she found each of them delightful. "The doughboys are perfect darlings," she declared upon her return. "They can't do enough for one. They always wanted me to dine with them and were so offended if I insisted on making it a Dutch treat. I wouldn't trade my experiences with the army for a million dollars."

Treaty Validates 'All Alien Property Laws

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 1.—The Versailles treaty provisions affecting enemy alien property, which republican senators declare "validate" beyond legal recourse all the acts of the enemy alien property custodian, still were under question today in the public hearings of the foreign relations committee.

Senator Fall, New Mexico, had given notice he would speak in the senate on the league during the day and Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, had an appointment to confer with President Wilson regarding the treaty.

Two Factories Making Desserts for Hotel's Pie-eating Guests

It is the only hotel in the world that keeps two factories working seven days a week turning out desserts for its guests.

When the Hotel Hohenzollern, at Neuweid, Germany, became Uncle Sam's Hotel and Theatre, a revolution also took place in the kitchen. "Aptel Strudel" became apple pie, and kummel took a back seat for ice cream. The army provides the more substantial eatables for the boys, but as soon as Neuweid became a leave center, the men from the whole Third Army Corps, comprising the 1st, 2nd and 32nd Divisions, began swarming into town by the thousands, and there was such a run on desserts at Uncle Sam's Hotel that there never was enough.

Appeared, then, on the scene the Y. M. C. A. Back of the hotel is a bakery. The "Y" took this over and turned it into a pie plant. Next door to the pie plant is another building which the "Y" leased and transformed into an ice cream factory. Ice cream and pie makers were installed in the two buildings, and soon Uncle Sam's was the mecca for every pie-and-ice-cream eating doughboy in the Third Army Corps, which is just the same as saying the Third Army Corps. The "Y" followed this up by installing a theatre which provides the boys with movies and shows in the hotel.

"The Desserts that Made Neuweid Famous" are a "Y" enterprise that is paying big dividends in contentment for the boys who are compelled to remain overseas far away from friends and home.

CHICAGO OPERATIC CO. PLEASES IMMENSELY IN TWO APPEARANCES

Showers Yesterday Did Not Dampen Spirit Of Assemblans

Light showers considerably damaged the spirits of the Assemblans, all except the farmers, Thursday morning. After the daily devotional service in Chautauqua hall, Dr. J. C. Kauffman of Milledgeville, spoke very helpfully on "The Problems of the Country Church," out of the many years of his experience. The drifting of the population from the country to towns and cities has brought about a decline of the country church, until to-day most of them are languishing, and some are dead. Not only is there the problem of providing and maintaining church facilities for the country folk, but there is also the difficult problem of finding elsewhere students for the ministry that have come heretofore principally from country parishes.

Dr. Peery Talks on Power.

Following Dr. Kauffman, Dr. R. B. Peery gave his second address to the Bible conference on "Power in Service." He said: "While good health, education, eloquence, and many other things increase a man's efficiency in spiritual work, the ultimate source of Power is in God; and the Holy Spirit is the channel through which that power comes to us. One must fulfill the conditions, by keeping in contact and insulated from the world, in order to receive this divine energy. He may also find courage, stimulation, inspiration and increased efficiency in a constant realization for the fact that he is an integral part of a great organization, engaged in a mighty and irresistible warfare."

Concert Company Good.

After dinner, a musical concert was given by the Chicago Operatic company, composed of a mixed quartet, cellist, and pianist. It would be hard to get together a stronger organization than the Chicago Operatic company. They are all well known in the world of music, and the people of the Assembly are looking forward to their remaining concerts. Some of the numbers on the afternoon program were: cello solo, "Berceuse," Godard, with an original encore; tenor solo, "Flower Song," from Carmen; contralto solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Samson and Delilah; and the popular quartette arrangement of the Sextette from "Lucia."

In the evening, this company also gave an entertainment. They opened with the famous quartette from "Rigoletto," and responded to an encore with the immortal "Sweet and Low." Other numbers on the program which were especially well taken were a soprano and bass duet, "I Love You," "Carry me back to old Virginia," cello solo, receiving two encores; and a piano solo by Edgar A. Nelson. Mr. Nelson is one of the leading pianists and organists of Chicago, and has made a name for himself that will not be forgotten by the thousands who have heard him. Practically all of the accompaniments which he played were from memory—an unusual thing in an

The New Advertising Era

The Sudden Increase in Volume—The New Effectiveness
The Multiplied Possibilities—The Increased Necessity

A Review by Lord & Thomas

With the signing of the armistice there came in a day a new era in advertising. Never in the history of this important industry has anything occurred so momentous, so far-reaching and so radical.

Many a dormant manufacturing business awoke overnight. Restricted business found itself unbound. War-time business was suddenly forced back into peace-time channels. Boundless new possibilities suddenly loomed into view.

The volume of advertising, as a result, quickly broke all records. Magazines and weeklies jumped to new sizes. Popular newspapers found themselves overwhelmed.

The business of Lord & Thomas, so far this year, shows an increase of 42 per cent over the same period of last year. And nearly all this increase has come from long-existing clients, because up to now we have not been able to increase our facilities fast enough to serve many new patrons.

Reasons, as We See Them

Many causative factors are revealed to us through our widespread inside view.

Some of our clients, during war-time, were restricted in production. Their obvious course was to get back quickly to their pre-war volume.

Numerous advertised articles had been modified by war-time scarcities. Makers of those products wished to announce return to pre-war quality.

In many lines makers had to deal with acute price uncertainty. Mammoth factories, changed to war production, had to win back peace-time trade.

But there are other more enduring factors. One is the general feeling that years of great prosperity lie immediately ahead.

The large increase in wages has multiplied consumers in most lines. Workingmen are buying what they rarely bought before. Farmers were never so prosperous. The buying power of the great nine-tenths has been doubled on the average. Luxury lines in general are now breaking all sales records.

Some of these are permanent markets. There are vast new fields to cultivate in nearly every line, and advertising forms the quickest way to do it.

A New Effectiveness

It is also evident that advertising has gained a new effectiveness. Something has brought it new respect and attention.

We attribute this, in part, to war experience with Liberty Loans, war charities, etc. Advertising has never brought such results as today, despite its large increase in volume.

Sales of advertised articles have grown beyond all precedent on long-established lines. Demand has multiplied on some from two to four times over. Nearly every old basis of figuring cost and result is obsolete today.

Doubtless this is due in part to prosperous conditions. But increase in the lines we handle comes not merely from increased demand from old customers, but mainly from gaining new customers. Advertising is gaining customers for our clients faster and more cheaply than ever before in our history.

Facts such as these show that advertising has gained new recognition. Whatever its old-time importance in business, it is twice as important now. And it never was so profitable.

A New Situation

This new effectiveness of advertising accentuates its need. It brings increased advantage to advertised products. It means a greater handicap to non-advertised competitors.

The effect of advertising is to center demand on certain familiar brands. It gives to the makers a control of their market. It decreases selling cost. By increasing output it reduces overhead cost. As an economical factor it cannot be overlooked.

More and more demand is centering on the well-known brands. Dealers, more than ever, are inclined to favor them. They feature them, for unknown brands are never an attraction.

As merchandising becomes simplified, with chain stores, self-service stores, etc., the more essential it becomes to handle what people know. The modern dealer seeks products which sell themselves.

Thus advertising is gaining in importance. Strange brands are at growing disadvantage. Advertising is today hardly a matter of choice. Few lines can long avoid it. Certainly the man whose competitor advertises must awake to its necessity or lose.

Let Us Talk It Over

It will pay you to discuss these new-day phases with us. The volume of our business gives us an exceptional viewpoint. Our 46 years of accumulated experience gives us seasoned judgment.

We invite a discussion on advertising problems of any of the following sorts:

Existing advertising, small or large, which has failed to meet expectations.

The advertising possibilities in any line, whether advertised or not.

The methods of proving possibilities, where they are uncertain, at very small expense.

The ways of creating advertising possibilities where they do not now exist.

Methods of securing quick results where results are slow at present.

Methods of reducing selling cost.

Modern merchandising methods, for securing quick, wide distribution at minimum expense.

New ways of handling dealers.

Asking for a conference incurs no obligation. You are sure to gain invaluable ideas. Please tell us when and where.

GENERAL RAINS CAUSE SETBACK IN CORN PRICE

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 1.—Drastic new set backs in the price of corn resulted today from general rains, hog market weakness and from agitation for government measures to reduce the cost of living. Bearish corn reports continued also as a depressing influence. Selling was on a large scale. Opening quotations, which varied from 2 3/8 to 4 7/8, lower, with Sept. 190 to 191 and Dec. 159 to 161 1/8, were followed by only moderate rallies from initial bottom figures.

Oats were easier with corn. After opening 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower, including September at 77 3/8 to 78 1/8, the market sagged a little more and then recovered somewhat. Provisions reflected the weakness of hogs and grain. Offerings thought, were light. Later, the market rallied sharply owing to bullish crop estimates and to talk that much crop damage was irreparable. Buying, however, came to a halt, and the market tumbled lower than before. The finish was semi-demoralized 3 5/8 to 7 3/8 net lower with corn 5 1/8 to 7 3/8 net lower, with Sept. 189 1/4 to 189 3/4 and Dec. 156 1/2 to 157.

Plant to Be Dreaded.

One of the most terrible plants in existence is the Asclepias gigantea, which is common in Abyssinia, and grows also in Ceylon. When cut, a milky sap exudes from the stem and leaves, and the least drop of this will cause total blindness if it comes in contact with the eyes.

Relic of Noah.

The Desert de Carlitte, in the Pyrenees, close on 10,000 feet above the sea, contains no fewer than 60 lakes of varying sizes. These, according to local tradition, were left at the time of the flood. When the water subsided, it is said, Noah and his family landed on the Puy de Prigue, one of the highest peaks in the district.

Cynicism.

We are reminded that resentment, doubt and cynicism are so easily mistaken for the wisdom of disillusionment that there is double reason to guard against them. Many a hurt soul fancies it is growing wise in the ways of the world when in truth it is only growing hard and bitter. An acquaintance with mankind does not mean merely learning humanity's seamy side and being on guard against it. A wider study will bring a far different and more hopeful knowledge.

Ancient Admonition.

Thoughtless persons who insist on talking during a musical performance, marring the pleasure of those who would listen to the music, we have always with us. It is curious to note that this particular pest was already extant more than 2,000 years ago. In the ancient book "Ecclesiastes" we read, "Speak, thou that art the elder, for it becometh thee, but with sound judgment, and hinder not music."

Where the Banjo Came From.

The modern banjo was introduced into England from the United States, to which country it was probably taken by the African slaves, who originally obtained the idea from India. The unmusical name "banjo" seems to have been derived from "banya," the name of a Senegambian instrument of the guitar species.

To Frost Glass.

It is often convenient to frost bulbs and lenses, and here is a method by which this work may be done at home. To a mixture of 24 ounces of ether and 18 ounces of benzine add two and a quarter ounces of sandarach and half an ounce of mastic. The parts to be frosted should be immersed in this solution a few minutes.
